

Language Difference

Literature/Marketing Communications

Language Difference appointed A&Z Design Consultants to rebrand the organisation, with the aim of expanding its business and create stronger customer base. The project was to rejuvenate their corporate identity, concept of a new website and marketing communications, which will significantly help to raise the company's profile against a wider audience. Language Difference needed a style that also reflects their involvement in interpretation.